AMUSEMENTS.

"ORPHEUS AND EURYDICE" TO-NIGHT. To-night at the Grand Opera House Miles & Barton's famous Bijou Opera Bouffe Company of forty artists will make its first appearance in this city. The engagment has attracted widespread attention because of the fame of the organization. There will be no advance in the prices, the following popular scale ruling: Parquette and dress circles, reserved, fifty cents; parquette, seventytive cents; sota chairs, $1; admission, fifteen and twenty-five cents. The piece to be presented is an operatic burlesque, entitled "Orpheus and Eurydice," an adaptation of Offenbach's famous opera bouffe, "Orphee aux Eufers," which had a run of over 400 nights in New York. It will be presented here with substantially the same company scenery. Among the ladies of the company whose efforts are best appreciated are Misses Marie first mortgage on real estate, with a large margin Vaponi, as "Eurydice," with French of security, or by collaterals having a market and Spanish songs and dances; Miss Urqubart as "Venus," Miss Langdon as "Diana," Miss Alliston as "Juno," Miss Daisy Murdock as "Cupid," Miss Bemister as "Public Opinion," and Miss McNulty as "Mercury." Messrs. Louis De Lange, an excellent eomedian, as 'Jupiter," Harry Pepper the "Or pheus," and Harry Davenport the "Pluto" of the play also contribute materially to the success of she performance. The chorus is large and well drilled, the costumes new and gorgeous, and the spectacular and en-semble effects brilliant beyond description. Speaking of the first performance in New York the Tribune says: The Bijou produc-tion of "Orpheus and Eurydice" made an unqualified hit. The first act proved a trifle tedious, but the other two were so bright brilliant and full of movement that the audience was carried away. It is curious that Offenbach's best opera has never been done in this country in English before. But such is the fact. It was probably due to a supposed ignorance on the part of the public about mythological facts and characters.. But these have been made in the present version sufficiently loca! for all purposes. The drollery of the adaptation by Max Freeman and in the introduction by Sydney Rosenfeld have robbed the libretto of anything like tediousness. It is cheery and funny. The mount ing is simply splendid. The wealth of con tume alone makes this a production worthy to be seen. Everything is rich and gor geous, and the dressing is set off by a num ber of very pretty women. "A MIDNIGHT MARRIAGE" AT ENGLISH'S.

From all indications and reports this play and company producing it, will give great satisfaction; the names of the two princi pals, at least, seem to warrant this conclu sion. Mr. Redmund and Mrs. Barry are both very favorably known in all the large cities, both being conscientious, thorough artists. Mr. Redmund has had an extended experence in the production of plays in London, having held high positions at all the best theaters in the English metropolis and has produced "A Midnight Marriage" with a correctness of detail in stage effects and costumes that has called out hearty commendation everywhere. Mrs. Barry has neid the highest position in three such thesters as Wallick's, McVicker's and the Boston, which seems a sufficient guarantee of her excellence as an actress. The "Midnight Marriage" will be produced at English's the last three nights of this week and at the Saturday matinee.

The Zoo offers a new bill this week in which a number of excellent specialty peo-

The sale of seats for "The Midnight Marriage" will open at English's Opera House ussday morning. There is a ballet dance in "Orpheus and Enrydice," which is said to equal some of the best efforts of the Kiraliya. The Dime Museum will open the week this afternoon with an entire change of attractions in both Curio hall and the theatrum. One of the best shows of the seaso will be given.

The popular and accomplished emotional actress, Miss Maud Granger, supported by a strong company, will be at the Grand Opera House the last three nights of this week, apearing in Mr. J. K. Tillotson's latest and est romantic drama, "Lynwood." The prices will remain popular, and the advance ale of seats opens to-morrow morning at he theater box-office. The rumor started by a Chicago paper that the company would close its season there is untrue, and they. vill certainly be here.

THE LIQUOR DEALERS.

The Course They Intend to Pursue-Some Recommendations to the Legislature.

The order requiring saloons to remain closed on the Sabbath day went into effect yesterday, and it appears that the saloon keepers generally obeyed the same, for no arrests had been made up to a late hour last night. Some days ago C. C. Heddrich, President of the Liquor Dealers' Association, issued a call for a meeting of the members of the same, and in fact all of the saloon keepers in the city were invited to attend. This meeting was held vesterday afternoon in Heddrich's place, and about 200 liquor dealers were in attendance. A committee of seven appointed heretofore to report the best policy to pursue in regard to the 11 o'clock and Sunday law, submitted the following, which was unanimously adopted: "That a test case be made out the cases now pending in the Criminal Court as soon as possible, and that we comply with the statute law until said cases are decided, and that the costs in said cases shall be paid by the association, and that we recommend the Legislature to license druggists and all other places where intoxicants are sold.

One of the members of the association, in conversation with a Sentinel reporter last barmonious one.

THE RAILROADS.

The largest excursion party which has lett Cincinnati for New Orleans and the World Exposion went on Taesday night on special train over the Louisville and Nashville Road. The party came from Dayton, O., and numbered 112 people.

At the monthly meeting of the New England Railroad Club, the question of discussion will be: "Do the facts in relation to the safety and economy of the steel-tired wheel for engines and cars, warrant its universal adoption; and is there a difference in the durability and relative value of the various kinds? Do wrought iron brake shoes damsge steel wheels more than cast iron?

The Erie Canal retained a larger proportion of the grain business from Buffalo eastward last year than the railroads have from to support it, but if it is based ing off of 6,000,000. The shipments of grain by rail were only 12,396,000, against 27,400. 000 last year-less than one-half. The canal business declined from 42,000,000 bushels to

The Boston Advertiser, in commenting on the Trunk Line pool troubles, says: "The action taken, of course, means that the pool is like the Quaker's coat, it is put aside until the enemy is chastised. Perhaps by that time it will be too old and weak for service. It is expensive, however, and in consideration of its practical failure the roads are all drifting toward a condition where they will welcome a strong Government commis-

"If I had the means at my command," said a Trunk Line railroad official the other day, "I would guarantee to beat all the other reads in the volume of business, and at the same time get as good, if not better, rates for it than the others. I would do it in this way: There is no disguising the fact that most of the cutting in rates is done by means of rebates. The shipper has his freight billed at full schedule rates, and after it reaches its destination he puts in a claim against the company for such rebate as may have been agreed upon. Now, the collection of these rebate claims is a very tedious process. They have to be passed upon by the officers of the last freight line that handles the goods. and then the amount has to be prorated among the roads that have hauled the goods, and a collection made from each, so that it is anywhere from four months to a yess before the merchant, or whoever be may be, gets his money back. Now, my way of doing business would be to have a fund on hand sufficiently large to pay these re bates or any other claims that might be allowed, just as soon as the freights had been delivered, and then collect them myself. This would be such an accommodation to shippers that they would prefer the line doing business this way to any other, all thirgs being equal, even if they had to pay a little higher rates. The trouble about carrying out the scheme just now is that none of the companies, probably, has the money to use in such a way, though after the system was once got into operation the amount required would not be large.

PASSENGER AGREEMENT. The Passenger Department of the Rai way Association of Michigan has just issued a memorandum of agreement for the coming year which is in its features very similar to Clergymen are to be charged one half or two-thirds fare, and permits are only to be granted to clergymen on the line of the ssuing road. The amount of free transportation to newspapers is to be governed by their circulation.

With one or two specified exceptions stopover checks are to be limited to fifteen days from date of issue and granted only on full onlimited tickets. The regular rate for mileage tickets is to be 212 cents per mile. Datesates to conventions will pay full fare going and one-third fare returning, tickets to be sted on accrediting certificate. Children between five and twelve years of age pay one half tariff rates. Theatrical rates will be two-thirds tariff or parties of five and one pass for advance

Local excursions, parties of five good for one day, one and one-third fare. The same rule applies to students on vacation. The following articles will not be checked as baggage: Paper package, bundles in shawl-straps, band-boxes, bird-cages boxes or bar-rels of fruit, merchandise, furniture, household goods, machinery, game, perishable aricles, explosive matter, trunks with bundles ttached, or two pieces of baggage with one heck. Tool-chests baby cabs and bicycles will be checked at owner's risk.

Struck by a Train.

Passengers on the Vandalia train, due here t 4:40 yesterday afternoon, report the leath of a man near Reelsville, Clay County, ander circumstances that filled them with norror. As the train entered the little vilage a couple of men were seen driving a wo-horse sleigh, but just before it reached be crossing one of the men threw himself rom the sleigh. The driver evidently underook to cross in advance of the train, but he niscalculated the distance and the sleigh ses struck by the train. village called to him to stop. The name of the deceased could not be learned, but it, was said that he was the father of a family of ten children, who are left in very poor circumstances.

A Brutal Assault.

Last evening a Mrs. Hayden, living in the rear of 172 West Washington street, went into an out house about 7 o'clock, where she was followed by a large negro, who made an indecent proposal to her and took hold of her. Mrs. Hayden screamed for assist-ance although she was threatened by the scoundrel if she made any noise, and, upon the appearance of several parties in answer to her call, her assailant disappeared, ranning down the alley. A search was made for him, but it was unsuccessful. Mre. Hayden was prostrated for a short time by the fright.

Medical Legislation, [Communicated]

As there have been several bills submitted to our present Legislature on the above subject, those who have not made the practice of medicine a study are respectfully requested to consider the following remarks before deciding which way they will jump Many of the most candid and eminent medical gentlemen have openly admitted that the practice of medicine is but an experimental science, that those afflicted would "in most cases be safer without than evening, said that the meeting was a very | with a physician."-Professor Ramage, M. "Our remedies are unreliable."-Valen-

> "S groos is our ignorance of the physiolegical character of disease that it would be better to do nothing."-Dr. Magendie. "Let us no longer wonder at the lamentable want of success which attends our practice when there is scarcely a sound physiological principle among us."-Dr. Ma-

tine Mott, M. D.

"I have no faith whatever in our medicines."-Dr. Bailey. "The science of medicine is a barbarous argon, and the effects of our medicines on the human system are in the highest decree uncertain, except that they have already destroyed more lives than war, famine and pestilence combined. '-Dr. John Mason Good. The people should be protected and a lowed their own selection. If the science of medicine is correct and powerful, it requires no legislative props the cure of disease-vitality and faith, commen to both patient and physician, exemption from poisonous drugs, and healthy and efficient nursing. Physicians who accomplish the most cures in the least time, and for the least money, ought to be the only "legalized" ones to practice, whether their curriculum of knowledge emanated from the cabinet of their own brains or the majestic portals of a medical college. If the laws are not stringent enough to punish mal practice, let them so be made that they will cut both ways, but give us no class legisla-

. The fact is that the "irregulars" have more success in curing disease than the "regulars," and they well know it. Hence the cry, "Down with the quacks!"

It was but a few months ago that a very earnest discussion took place in an adjoin ing (protected) State, by a regular medical society, on the subject of "Whether it was ever right to medically terminate life in uncertain (?) cases of lingering disease," and was hotly argued "pro and con." Just think of such men deciding on the legality of a husband prescribing for his wife, a father for his son or a mother for her daughter. Uneducated natural ability is preferable to polished scientific failure in the treatment of disease, and the intelligent public are not slow in perceiving it.

"By their fruits shall ye know them." Respectfully, FOR THE PEOPLE.

A Suspicioned Dynamiter. A fellow, rather well dressed, entered the Union Depot dining hall on Saturday evening in a state of great nervous excitement and inquired if the Bea Line train was on time. Being told it was, he handed a package to the porter, and told him to be very careful with it until he came back, and walked out of the room. Suspicion was at once aroused, and the box was carefully examined and found to contain a handsome
